Case No. 4:05-CV-799 RWS

MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

This matter is before the Court upon the application of Paulette Y. Howard for leave to commence this action without payment of the required filing fee pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1). Upon review of plaintiff's financial affidavit, the Court will deny her leave to proceed in forma pauperis.

Financial Affidavit

In her financial affidavit, plaintiff states that (1) she is employed as a substitute teacher and earns a monthly income of $500; (2) her spouse is employed and earns a monthly income of $2,400¹; (3) in the past 12 months, she has not received "other income"; (4) she currently has $5,000 on hand or money in a savings or checking account; (5) she owns a home valued at $200,000; (6) she has three dependent children, "one at [the] house . . . other two children moved out" ; (7) her debts consist of a balance with U.S. Bank ($769 per month/$117,000 total debt), a credit union ($500 per month/$6,000 total debt), and various other expenditures and debts listed as “insurance health, house & car” ($500 per month).

¹The Court notes that in Lee v. McDonald's Corporation, 231 F.3d 456 (8th Cir. 2000), the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals held that plaintiff's in forma pauperis status was to be based upon his financial status, independent of his wife's assets to which she had denied him access. In the case at hand, it is unclear whether plaintiff has access to her husband's monthly income. Regardless, plaintiff's financial information alone is sufficient to deny her leave to proceed in forma pauperis.

Discussion

Title 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1) provides, in pertinent part, that “[a]ny court of the United States may authorize the commencement . . . of any suit . . . without payment of fees or security therefor, by a person who makes affidavit . . . that the person is unable to pay such fees or give security therefor.” This statutory provision guarantees that no citizen shall be denied access to the federal courts “solely because . . . poverty makes it impossible . . . to pay or secure the costs” of litigation. Adkins v. E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., 335 U.S. 331, 342 (1948). The decision to grant or deny in forma pauperis status is within the discretion of the district court. Cross v. General Motors Corp., 721 F.2d 1152, 1157 (8th Cir. 1983).

Upon consideration of the financial information provided with the application, the Court finds that plaintiff is financially able to pay the filing fee of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($250). See 28 U.S.C. § 1914(a).

Therefore,

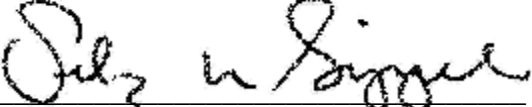

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that plaintiff’s motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis [Doc. #1] is DENIED.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff shall have thirty (30) days from the date of this order to pay the $250 filing fee.²

²The Court notes that if plaintiff pays the filing fee, she will be responsible for serving the summons and the complaint upon the defendant, see Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(c), or requesting the defendant to waive service of summons. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(d). Plaintiff is advised that she may seek guidance on serving the defendant from the Office of the Clerk.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that if plaintiff fails to pay the filing fee within thirty (30) days, the Court will dismiss this action, without prejudice, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(b).

Dated this 1st day of June, 2005.
